CITIZENS HOLD MEETING

Committee Will See About
Buying Grounds

At a meeting of the Southern Kansas Fair and Carnival association held in the rooms of the Commercial club, it was decided to hold a spring fair in Wichita some time in May. This session of the stockholders was well attended and besides the discussion and conclusion of the spring fair several other important questions came before the association.

There were two carnival men at the meeting and each put before the association his proposition. These propositions will receive the consideration of the association at a later date.

Mr. Gaskell, of the Gaskell Carnival company, of Austin, Tex., was present. His company offers many attractions and would possibly make the fair a grand success. C. W. Parker, of Abilene, who gave the last carnival here, was also at the meeting with a good proposition. In the judgment of the association, however, there is ample time yet in which to decide this matter.

This fair, according to its promoters, will be something better than any previous carnival. The association instructed President C. M. Irwin to go to Hutchinson today to help in the Arkansas Valley circuit.

Last night another meeting was held at the city building in collaboration with a large number of citizens present. Among the important features of the meeting was the fair ground proposition. No conclusion was reached, however, and the chair appointed a committee of three—Messrs. Irwin, Cohn and Healy—to make a further investigation of the matter and see what interest the people of Wichita would take in their various propositions.

President Irwin said: "I hope that the business men of this city will not be unmindful of the importance of these carnivals from a financial standpoint. We want to put our shoulders to the wheel and work for that which will be of benefit to Wichita, and I know of nothing that brings more money into our city than these fairs. Further announcements will be made in a few days."

GLAMAN IS GUILTY.

Man Accused of Stealing Is Convicted in District Court.

At 7:30 o'clock last night the jury in the case of the state against Al Glaman returned a verdict of guilty of petit larceny.

Glaman was charged with stealing from Arthur Lawrence the sum of $30 on November 6, 1903. The robbery occurred in the Exchange saloon on East Douglas avenue.

The first witness called was Lawrence. He testified that on the morning of November 6 he had a conversation with Glaman concerning the sale of a chili parlor which he (Lawrence) had been running and was about to sell. He said that in the afternoon he saw Glaman again and told him that he had sold the place. He asked Glaman to get into the buggy with him and they drove to the Exchange saloon, where Glaman afterward robbed him of the money which he carried in a sack in his coat pocket.

When Glaman was put on the stand he said that on the afternoon in question he met Lawrence and after much persuasion accompanied him to a saloon, where they took a drink. He said that Lawrence complained of being sick and left the room. Glaman admitted that he ran when Lawrence afterward accused him of taking the money, but it was because he thought Lawrence meant to do him some injury; that he thought the man was drunk and angry and was afraid he was going to pull a revolver.

The case went to the jury about 2:30 in the afternoon and they did not return with a verdict until about 7:30 last night. Judge J. C. Milton presided at the defense and County Attorney Eckstein and his assistant, Ed. Dill, appeared for the state.

HOW IT HAPPENED.

Wichita Recruiting Station Supported
Two Lieutenants for a Time.

For the past ten days the friends of Lieutenant P. L. Polindexter, Artillery Corps, recruiting officer at Wichita, have been concerned regarding a rumor that he was to be transferred to Florida, on account of his health. As a matter of fact, on January 6, an order was issued at Washington directing Lieutenant Polindexter to proceed to Fort Barrancas, Florida, where he would be attached to the Seventh company, Coast Artillery, and on the same date another order was issued directing Lieutenant P. L. Kenney, Artillery Corps, to report to Wichita and relieve Lieutenant Polindexter.

Soon after the receipt of these orders by Lieutenant Polindexter it developed that they had been issued on account of an erroneous impression the surgeon general

CURES WITHOUT STOMACH DRUG-GING.

Myomei Cures Catarrh by Simple Breathing—Leading Wichita Druggists Refund Money if It Fails to Cure.

A long stride toward solving the mystery of curing catarrh was taken with the discovery of Myomei. In fact, the percentage of cures by this treatment proves its equal to the final tests.

The folly of taking medicine into the stomach to cure catarrh of the nose, throat and lungs has been realized by physicians, but not until Myomei was known had they a practical method that would obviate stomach drugging.

A complete Myomei outfit costs but $1, and consists of a neat pocket inhaler that can be used anywhere without attracting attention, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Myomei.

Breathing Myomei through the inhaler, every particle of air that enters the nose, throat and lungs is charged with a healing balm that soothes and allays all irritation, kills the catarrhal germs and enriches the blood with additional ozone.

Leading Wichita druggists have so much faith in the power of Myomei to cure catarrh that they are selling it under their personal guarantee to refund the money if it does not give positive relief.

had got regarding his health; so Lieut. Polindexter, who has been so benefited from the effects of Wichita's climate since he came from the Presidio, Cal., less than three months ago that he has gained twelve pounds in weight, immediately wired the department requesting a delay until the facts in the case could be presented. The result was that on January 21 the following order was issued:

"Special Orders, No. 17—War Department, Washington. Extract. 12 Paragraphs 1 and 2. Special Orders, No. 4, January 6, War Department, relating to Second Lieutenants Franklin R. Kenney and Pindling L. Polindexter, Artillery Corps, are revoked.

"By order of the secretary of war. (Signed) ALBION R. CHAFFEE, Chief of Staff."

On the same day an order was issued directing Lieutenant Kenney, who arrived in Wichita on January 22, to proceed to Oklahoma City and take charge of the recruiting office at that point. These many orders explain the rumor of a misunderstanding that was reported by the Eagle last Sunday. The misunderstanding was all at Washington. Lieut. Polindexter was in charge of the station here as the order relieving him had been revoked and this fact officially wired him before Lieut. Kenney arrived at Wichita and the order directing Lieut. Kenney to proceed to Oklahoma City was received immediately upon his arrival. Had this not been the case Lieut. Kenney and Lieut. Polindexter are too well versed in matters pertaining to army discipline to become involved in any contention of this kind.

TODD SAYS IT WILL SNOW

CONDITIONS REPORTED AS BEING MUCH UNSETTLED.

Temperature Will Drop Today—Yesterday Was Warmest in Some Time at 41 Degrees.

Forecast for Wichita and vicinity: Probably snow flurries. Mr. Todd talked very unfavorable yesterday about the weather for today and tomorrow. He said: "The weather, according to all indications, is very unsettled again. We may get snow today or tonight and probably colder temperature."

"Clear weather is general except over the western Gulf coast, Montana and portions of Nebraska and North Dakota. Snow was falling this morning at Bismarck and Qu'Appelle and rain at Galveston. The precipitation in the past 24 hours has been unimportant. There has been a general rise in temperature over the Arkansas and Missouri valleys and a decided fall in the region immediately east of the Mississippi river. Severely cold weather continues over the upper Missouri and Mississippi valleys and lake region. The Alberta low has moved southwestward to western South Dakota. The pressure is highest over the Pacific northwest and relatively high over the Ohio valley."

Minimum temperature, 15 degrees; maximum 41 degrees.

JURY IS SECURED.

Case of S. M. Stevens Will Be Tried Today.

At 9 o'clock this morning the case of the state versus S. M. Stevens, for attempted arson, will be called for trial. The jury for the case was impaneled yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, just before court adjourned.

Mr. Stevens is charged with an attempt to burn a stock of millinery belonging to his wife, for the purpose of securing the insurance. The attempt was made New Year's night, one year ago. Mr. and Mrs. Stevens had invited two of their head trimmers to accompany them to the theater. On the way the two young ladies, Miss Albaugh and Miss Hereford, stopped at the store. They unlocked the door and went through the store to the back room, where they found a lighted lamp, with the globe off, placed in a box of trimmings. A string attached to the lamp passed out through the key-hole of the back door. The curtains were drawn, and it is probable that the fire would have gained great headway before discovered. When the girls discovered the lamp they called the police and an investigation followed which led to Mr. Stevens' arrest.

FORMER WICHITAN DEAD.

Mrs. Mamie Reiff Day Passed Away at Home in Findlay, Ohio.

Elmer A. Reiff received a telegram yesterday afternoon from Findlay, O., containing the very sad news of the death of his only sister, Mrs. Mamie Reiff Day, who died at her home in Findlay early yesterday morning of diabetes, having been seriously ill only a few days previous to her death.

Mrs. Day was the wife of Francis J. Day, who is a writer and artist of considerable note, and who is also a business man of Findlay. She was the daughter of J. W. Reiff of San Jose, Cal., and sister also to Lester and Johnny Reiff, the famous jockeys, and another brother, Delbert Reiff, now residing in England. Lester and Johnny Reiff are at present in Los Angeles, where Lester resides.

Mrs. Day was born in Montgomery county, Mo., March 2, 1853. She was married to Mr. Day February 2, 1882, at the home of her parents in San Jose, Cal. Her father had formerly lived in Findlay, where the young people had met and were betrothed. It is recalled that the young husband who brought his bride from the far away California home should now be taking her back, in the narrow casket, symbol of death upon which we look with sorrow, even though a stranger life within. Death in what-over quietude and hushes humanity in the whirl of life. But such a death as that of this young wife, sister and daughter is especially to be mourned, she was the soul of all to whom she was related, and of her friends as well. Fourteen years of her girlhood life was passed in Wichita, where she is remembered as a beautiful girl, of the graceful, willowy type, and having a character as pure and as lovable as she was attractive in person. She was the loving wife, the sweet sister and a tender daughter, bearing all the trials found in perfect womanhood. Her brothers wished her to go abroad, to receive all the advantages that wealth could bestow. Not from an unwillingness, that she should marry the man of her choice, but that she was their one little sister upon whom they wished to lavish the best of life to give.

But she gave her hand to her young lover instead and now that their brief and happy union has ended so soon, who will not say she chose wisely and well? Her request that she should be taken to her father's home in California for burial is granted. Mr. Day, with his precious charge is expected to reach New York, en route to San Jose, Saturday, where her brother, Elmer Reiff and wife, and her cousin, Mrs. E. S. Groves, and husband will meet the sad husband, but it is not decided that they will accompany him.

To the family and relatives, to the husband of this sweet woman, is given the tender sympathy of all Wichita friends.

VERDICT OF JURY IS NOT GUILTY

Ralph Bain Is Once More a Free Man.

JURORS WERE OUT 26 HOURS

Defendant Remained Cool Until Last.

After being out 26 hours, the jury in the case of the State vs. Ralph Bain, returned at 2:35 o'clock yesterday afternoon a verdict of not guilty. This was a surprise to those who had speculated upon a hung jury, while those who expected an acquittal gave vent to the phrase "I told you so."

At 10:40 yesterday morning the jury entered the court room, and those who were in waiting, expected that a verdict would be given, but such was not the case. They asked the advice of Judge Wilson in regard to some testimony that was given, but were informed by the court that the testimony was for their consideration and they alone had a right to judge it.

They returned to the jury room and at 2:35 o'clock returned with the verdict as given above, not guilty. Ralph Bain was in the court room when the jury returned and received the verdict with evident relief although throughout the trial he had been very cool and seemed not in the least worried as to the result.

The defense were jubilant over their victory and will say they were for it was a hard fought case from the beginning.

It was reported that when the jury returned to the court room yesterday morning, they stood nine to three in favor of acquittal and it was generally thought that when the jury failed to return by 9 o'clock in the morning that they would not be able to agree at all. Immediately after the verdict was given Bain was at liberty to go free. The only sign of emotion displayed by the defendant throughout the trial was when the jury had returned the verdict. As Bain turned to leave the court room large tears rolled down his cheeks. Fifteen minutes later he was at his home at the Hotel Santa Fe with his family.

NOTED EXPLORER WAS HERE

BALDWIN SAYS ARCTIC EXPEDI-TION WAS NOT A FAILURE.

He May Make Another Trip—Talks
Interestingly of Trips to the Extreme North.

Evelyn Briggs Baldwin, who has gained quite a reputation as an explorer and who was manager of the Baldwin-Ziegler Arctic expedition in 1901-02, was in the city yesterday with his cousin, Judge S. W. Sackett, of Clearwater, to attend the Woodmen meeting.

When asked whether he intended making another expedition, he said: "I hope, at some future time to make another trip."

Mr. Baldwin is a former resident of this county and has many friends throughout the city. He left here in 1895 to travel in Europe and among the older settlers, his journal of "Europe Afoot," will be remembered, as a large number of Wichita people were subscribers. He afterward became interested in Arctic expeditions and spent a number of years at work on plans and in the collecting of financial support, necessary to their fulfillment.

When he returned from the expedition of 1901-02 it was reported by Ziegler to be a failure and much comment in regard to it was given in the press, which Mr. Baldwin declares to be untrue.

In speaking of his expedition he said: "For four years I traveled in Central America, the south and in St. Louis and Chicago, for the purpose to carry out the plans I had formed. I finally went to New York and there I met Ziegler, who invited me to his home to talk over my plans. He was so interested in them that he finally agreed that if I would consent to manage the expedition he would back it financially and for my part I was to have the proceeds of any articles I might publish concerning the trip. The expedition was to be known as the Baldwin-Ziegler expedition and all of the contracts concerning it were so made. The expedition itself was in my exclusive charge and Mr. Ziegler said that he was confident of the success and that if I did not succeed the first time I was to go again the year following. My idea was to take Siberian ponies on the expedition in place of dogs and the advisability was demonstrated when we returned with thirteen out of fifteen ponies with which we started, while out of 43 dogs we returned with but 15."

"After making arrangements with Ziegler I immediately began preparation for the expedition. I hired, as the pilot, a Norwegian who had had thirty years' experience in that work. The man I had engaged as sea master was unable to go at the last minute and I was compelled to hire a Swede, of no previous experience. I had a good deal of trouble by the sea master refusing to obey the orders of the Norwegian pilot but, as it is a well known fact that oil and water will not mix, I could not be held responsible under the circumstances when Ziegler had run his private secretary in to interfere with the plans of the expedition. I went first to New Foundland and tried to engage an American crew, but I was unable to do so as one crew was absent with a Perry expedition and the other had returned and did not want to return so soon to the north. I was therefore compelled to hire the men elsewhere. I left Norway in July, 1901 with 41 men in

THE REAL CAUSE.

The Ancient Scalp-Fever Theory Exploded.

A one time dandruff was attributed to the result of a feverish condition of the scalp, which threw off the dried cuticle in scales.

Professor Unna, Hamburg, Germany, noted authority on skin diseases, exploded the theory and says that dandruff is a germ disease.

This germ is really responsible for the dandruff and for so many bald heads. It can be cured if it is gone about in the right way. The right way, of course, and the only way, is to kill the germ.

Newbro's Herpicide does this, and permits the hair to grow luxuriantly, just as nature intended it should.

the company. The year that we went was an unusually hard one and the ice in the far north did not break up during the season. That I did not succeed in getting through the British channel was not through any fault of mine but on account of the ice not breaking up. A British expedition and also one from Russia were compelled to turn back that same year. Although I did not get through the channel with the boat, I sent an expedition out and established provision houses so far north as the most northern island of the Franz Josef group. Thinking that I would return next year and would already have the way prepared. The reports of Mr. Ziegler that the expedition was unsuccessful are not true and the public have been kept in ignorance of the initial stages of Ziegler's declared purpose of having two strings to his bow. Last year he took the same boat and using my same plans sent another expedition to the same place, of course the provision houses that were established when I was there will be a great aid to him if the season should be a favorable one and if he makes a success he, of course, will get all the honor. Evidently he did not think my plans had not been successful or he would not have made the second trial. The report that I was discharged from his employ was not true as I was never at any time employed by him, but merely managed and had control of the Baldwin-Ziegler expedition. This time he followed my plan and sent 30 Siberian ponies with the expedition. They are able to haul a greater amount of provisions and are not so troublesome as the dogs. The reason for our losing so many dogs was caused by the food given them by the man who purchased them. Death resulted from parasites. A British expedition to the Anarctic the same year with dogs purchased from the same source, lost all of them."

"The Baldwin-Ziegler expedition was my fourth trip to the northern regions. The first I made with a Perry expedition, the second with Welman, and the third to Spitzbergen where I hoped to join Andre. But owing to the fact that his party was made up, I did not get to go. Fortunately for me, I am positive the north pole can be reached, and I am very anxious to make another trial. The attack made on my expedition in the press was given out by Mr. Ziegler, before I had made any full report to him concerning the trip."

Mr. Baldwin said that Wichita had changed greatly since he last saw it. Although he had been through here several times on visits he had no chance to note its growth. He and his cousin E. W. Sackett, of Clearwater, left for that place yesterday evening.
